Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

This is a lower volatility, higher yield solution. The Fund follows an active total equity approach and invests in large-cap common stocks with a geographic home-based of 35% Canada and 65% global. The Fund emphasizes leading industries in each region, and integrates broad Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) criteria. This Fund also excludes all companies directly involved in the extraction, processing and transportation of fossil fuels.

This Fund offers a complete equity solution and aims to be 25% safer than the overall market with superior returns and a dividend yield of 4% or better. The portfolio is also designed to provide strong alignment with ESG.

Genus Capital Management Inc. (the Fund's Manager) implements a quantitative multi-style stock discipline that examines factors in the areas of value, growth, expectation, momentum, quality and sustainability. In addition to high return potential and attractive yield, this strategy emphasizes stocks with low beta and low correlation characteristics. Geographical location is actively managed through our DynaMix process, which seeks to overweight attractive regions and underweight areas presenting more risk.

Risk

There were no significant changes to the investment objective and strategies that affected the Fund's overall level of risk during the reporting period and the risks of investing in the Fund and the suitability of the Fund for investors remain as discussed in the Simplified Prospectus.

Results of Operations

The Fund's net asset value increased to $72.5 million as at June 30, 2019 from $60.7 million as at December 31, 2018. Over the past six months, the Fund's return was 4.5% versus the 13.7% benchmark. The Fund's return is after the deduction of expenses.

With equity markets pricing in central bank rate cuts for the end of the year, global stock markets extended their gains after a brief pullback in May. Central banks across the globe followed the lead of the US Federal Reserve (Fed) over the quarter, taking a dovish tone. One indication of this weakening is the Purchasing Managers Index (PMI). The index illustrates the strength of the manufacturing sector, and it fell below 50 for several countries; readings below 50 are viewed as evidence of slowing economic growth. The absence of inflation is leading investors to expect a soft landing for the economy and a central bank policy reversal.

The US has been busy on the trade front as negotiators kept up the pressure on trading partners. Talks with China began to break down early in the second quarter when Chinese officials pulled parts of the agreement, claiming that major policy and regulation overhauls were needed. The US retaliated with threats of tariffs on remaining Chinese exports. Despite the lack of meaningful progress, both leaders should be motivated to reach an agreement as they face pressures from domestic and global economic slowdowns.

For the Genus Fossil Free Dividend Equity fund, underweight IT sector contributed negatively as the sector stays robust within a slowing global economy powered by automation and hardware/software consolidation. On the other hand, stock selection in the Materials and Financials sector contributed positively. Top contributors in the Fund were Allianz SE NA. (Financials) and Sonoco Products Co (Materials). Stocks that had a negative impact were ABBVIE Inc. (Health Care) and Macy's Inc. (Consumer Discretionary).

Recent Developments

Considering the uncertainty surrounding US and China trade negotiations, and the potential for further deterioration in global economic leading indicators, we hold a more balanced view between equities and fixed income, and continue to favor the safe haven commodity. From a country beta perspective, we still favour the US because of a change in tax policy implemented in early 2018 and the possibility US will lower interest rate to maintain growth in the absence of inflation. We are not overly optimistic about markets represented by the Europe, Australasia and the Far East (EAFE) Index thanks to a range of market-specific factors including trade tensions, no progress in Brexit negotiations, and the absence of monetary policy, with multiple euro zone countries at zero or sub-zero interest rates, to weather an economic recession.

In terms of sector exposures, we remain overweight in defensive sectors, including Consumer Staples and Telecom. Among cyclical sectors, we believe the Material sector might regain some losses based on a broader shift to owning precious metals as fear of another downturn lurks around the market. Within the Financials sector, we tilted industry exposure away from US banks believing that there is a higher probability interest rate will fall. Finally, we remain underweight in Industrials and Health Care mainly to mitigate geopolitical risks.

1 This information is provided as at June 30 and December 31 of the year shown; unless noted otherwise.

2 Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of the daily average net asset value during the period.

3 The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

4 The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.

They do not include deduction of sales, switch, redemption, or other optional charges (which dealers may charge) or income taxes payable, and these returns would be lower if they did. The Fund's past performance does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.
